ADVOCACY DAY

In January 2020, history, humanities, architecture, and preservation advocates from across the state will descend on Annapolis to let their elected officials know that our state's history is worth protecting. We will be advocating for the policies, programs, and funding that makes our collective work possible.

The briefing will take place at the AIA Maryland Chapter House in Annapolis and will include a look at priorities for the 2020 Session, as well as strategies for how to hold a fruitful meeting with your legislators. Legislative meetings will take place at the various office locations of our state legislators.

The annual AIA Legislative Luncheon will take place back at the AIA Maryland Chapter House, where advocates will be able to spend time with legislators. The Maryland Historical Trust Preservation Awards and evening reception will be located in the Senate Office Building.
