Howard County Courthouse

Howard County, MD

ca. 1843.

Located in the Ellicott City Historic District, this two-story Romanesque Revival structure dates back to 1851 and 1878. The property holds over 170 years of sobering but noteworthy American history as a site of African American captivity, extrajudicial injustice, and civil rights violations while also standing as a testament to the effects of unsympathetic development and climate change. Preservation Maryland is working closely with Howard County to adaptively reuse the site and activate the area.

PRESERVATION MARYLAND

Protecting Our Past, Investing in Our Future

Preservation Maryland is a nonprofit dedicated to revitalizing and reinvesting in communities, advocating for historic places, and building the historic trades workforce for the benefit of all Marylanders. This paper model is part of our Building Communities series, which highlights the history and architecture of Maryland's historic structures—and the ongoing impact they have on the communities where they reside.
