James H. Webb Cabin

Preservation Maryland Funding Recipient
Caroline County, Md.

ca. 1852 by James H. Webb

The cabin housed the free Black man, James H. Webb and his recently freed wife, Mary Ann, along with other family members. The original foundation of the house remains, with the rest having been reconstructed. It is the only remaining house on the Eastern Shore built by a free Black person before the Civil War. The Webb Cabin is owned and maintained by the Caroline Historical Society, and is one of more than 30 sites on the Harriet Tubman Underground Railroad Byway.

Protecting Our Past, Investing in Our Future

Preservation Maryland is a nonprofit dedicated to revitalizing and reinvesting in communities, advocating for historic places, and building the historic trades workforce for the benefit of all Marylanders. This paper model is part of our Building Communities series, which highlights the history and architecture of Maryland's historic structures—and the ongoing impact they have on the communities where they reside. To support Preservation Maryland and our Historic Property Redevelopment Program, visit www.presmd.org/donate.

Support for this project comes from the Maryland 250 Commission, celebrating Maryland's rich 250-year history.

Instructions

Cut out the buildings along the solid edge of the structure, leaving in the tabs. Fold the paper along the dotted lines. Glue the shaded tabs to the areas shown in the example image above. Glue each separate structure to the indicated areas in the drawing above.
