

Building Communities: Telling Maryland's Story Through Historic Architecture

for the full series
scan here

Third Haven Meetinghouse Easton, MD

ca. 1684.

Third Haven Meeting House is one of the oldest surviving Quaker meeting houses in the United States. Established in the seventeenth century, the site reflects the influence of Quaker communities in colonial Maryland, and its preservation safeguards an exceptionally rare example of early religious architecture and worship traditions.

PRESERVATION MARYLAND

Protecting Our Past, Investing in Our Future

Preservation Maryland is a nonprofit dedicated to revitalizing and reinvesting in communities, advocating for historic places, and building the historic trades workforce for the benefit of all Marylanders. This paper model is part of our Building Communities series, which highlights the history and architecture of Maryland's historic structures—and the ongoing impact they have on the communities where they reside. To support Preservation Maryland and our Historic Property Redevelopment Program, visit www.presmd.org/donate.

Support for this project comes from the Maryland 250 Commission, celebrating Maryland's rich 250-year history.

Instructions

Cut out the buildings along the solid edge of the structure, leaving in the tabs. Fold the paper along the dotted lines. Glue the shaded tabs to the areas shown in the example image above. Glue each separate structure to the indicated areas in the drawing above.

www.presmd.org/donate

